After hours with Tajurba Baswar Paul in Media Coverage

"My weekdays start early — usually with a cup of tea and some reading," Mansharamani said. "I find that this quiet time in the morning helps set a productive tone for the day. The calmness of the early hours allows me to focus without distractions, whether it's diving into a good book or reflecting on my goals for the day. It's become an essential part of my routine that fuels my energy and creativity throughout the busy workday."
